PREFACE.

The following brief compilation has been made at the request of some of the descendants of Joseph Dart of Stratford, desiring in convenient form such particulars as might readily be collected. The name seems not to be a common one either in the "old country" or in the United States, and as in the case of most early New England families, the descendants are to be found scattered through many of the states and territories of the Union. We are indebted to M. L. Roberts of New Haven, Conn., and Mrs. M. M. Judd of Kanab, Kansas, for assistance in collecting material for the following pages.

W. C. SHARPE.

Seymour, Conn., March, 1888.

DART.

The name is variously spelled Dart, Darte and Dort, but the first is the generally accepted form, the second appearing only in old English records and the third in the Dutch or German form. In the visitation of the County of Surrey, England, made in 1620, the name is spelled Darte. John Wallis al's Darte of Barstable m. Joane, dau. of Rob. Courtney of Molland in Devon. His son, Lewis Wallis al's Darte, of Meve, m. Eliz., dau. of Thos. Roscarrock. Children:

John, Charles, Jane, m. John Tremayne; Phillip, of Bohemia, had three sons; Lewis, bap. Dec., 1597.

The earliest mention we find in New England records is at New London. From there members of the family seem to have gone to Bolton, Middletown, Chatham, Hebron, Windham and Stratford, Conn., and to Gilsun and Surry, New Hampshire. At the latter place there were several families who held prominent positions in the community and whose name is commemorated in the local geographic titles.
